

About Town And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

REMEMBER ROY S. HUGGENS? Mr. Hudgens and family formerly lived in Harrisburg.

There's quite an article about Mr. Hudgens in the National Life and Accident Insurance Co. periodical. It tells about his retirement from the company after almost 22 years of outstanding service. He was Chicago Hyde Park cashier for the company when he retired and went to live in a new home in Alexandria, Va.

The story, after telling about a big retirement party given him, reveals he joined the company in October, 1933, as an agent in Evansville and later became superintendent there. Twelve years ago he was assigned to the cashier's post in the Chicago Hyde Park district.

In commenting on the retirement, one of the home office officials said:

"Mr. Hudgens was always most efficient in his work and most loyal and co-operative in every way. When he was called upon to do so, he has willingly helped out in emergencies in other Chicago districts where his assistance was needed."

Their Alexandria address is 407 Wellington Road, Hollin Hall Village, Alexandria, Va.

OLD TIMER: R. A. Langford brought in an old book yesterday. It was printed in 1793 and on the flyleaf bears the name and date, "F. C. Wolfe, March 30, 1850."

Title of this book is "Latin-English Dictionary" and a look through its approximately 700 yellowed pages shows phrases as well as words in both English and Latin.

A preface reveals that the book was compiled by the command of "His Majesty, George II," in February, 1756.

The book belongs to Mr. Langford's stepson, Jack Lucas, who lives on Water street in Gaskins City.

HUMOR DEPT.: Each day for a week the accountant had been arriving at the office looking more and more haggard. Finally, his boss asked him what was the trouble.

"Well," said the hollow-eyed man, "my mother-in-law gave Junie a drum for his birthday and he's up every morning at five o'clock pounding on it. My wife won't let me take it away from him, and I don't know what to do."

"Hmmpmm," the boss mused. "That shouldn't be too difficult. Suppose you just buy Junie a jackknife, and ask him if he knows what's inside the drum."

Dr. John Paul Vincent, Former Local Pastor, Dies

Word was received at noon today that Dr. John Paul Vincent, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, died of a heart attack while attending a meeting in Columbus, Ohio.

Further details were not available at this time.

Woman Celebrating Birthday Today Gives Birth to Baby Boy

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (UPI) — A Mount Vernon woman who is celebrating her seventh birthday today became the mother of a 9-pound-13-ounce boy this morning.

Mrs. Charles E. Miller is, of course, actually 28 years old. But she was born Leap Year Day, 1928, and has celebrated her birthday only seven times.

Valuation Decrease and Low Rate Put HTHS Deeper into Financial Hole

School Superintendent C. R. Gardner Issues Statement on Plight

A look at the figures denoting assessed valuations of townships in Saline county reveals a decline of approximately $1,200,000 in the assessed valuation of Harrisburg township in 1955 compared with 1954.

And a further look reveals that the valuation of the Harrisburg Township high school district, which includes more territory than the township, has dropped $1,462,335, which poses added serious financial problems for the school.

Taxes collected this year on the 1955 valuations are for the 1956-57 school year.

The assessed valuation of the county as a whole was up nearly two million dollars—$56,709,726 in 1955 and $54,885,306 the preceding year—due chiefly to an increase of three and a half million dollars in Eldorado township because of assessments due to the oil industry.

Further Loss Inevitable

But Harrisburg township was down from $21,764,080 in 1954 to $20,576,800 in 1955. Townships showing an increase, besides Eldorado, were Rector, Raleigh and Long Branch, all up slightly. All the rest showed declines.

Harrisburg township high school district twice downed proposals to increase the 50 cent rate, when the funds were direly needed, and as a result the school has been operating at a deficit. The state legislature came to the help of schools in the plight of the local school by permitting levies up to 85 cents without referendum.

First monies from the new levy will come this summer but with decline in the assessment of nearly a million and a half, further loss of revenue is inevitable.

Gardner Statement

C. R. Gardner, county superintendent of schools, when queried by The Daily Register about the financial condition and prospects for betterment at Harrisburg high school, issued the following statement:

"Harrisburg Township high school has operated the past two years on a 50 cent educational rate which could not produce enough revenue to meet current expenses. Consequently, during the past two years, school officials were forced to incur indebtedness in the amount of approximately $70,000. Due to this condition, Harrisburg Township high school, although potentially one of the finest high schools in southern Illinois, is not enjoying the position the school once occupied."

"Due to a lack of finance, school officials have been forced to limit the curriculum, operate on a reduced budget, and have been unable to compete favorably in the field of teacher recruitment.

"With the loss of $1,462,335 in assessed valuation, Harrisburg Township high school will suffer the loss of nearly $10,000 in revenue, if taxes were to be collected 100 per cent, which will not be the case."

To Issue Anticipation Warrants

"Through board action the educational rate was increased from 50 cents to 65 cents on the $100 assessed valuation for the school year 1956-57. This action was permitted by legislation during the 1955 session of the state legislature. However, a 65 cent educational rate will not supply sufficient revenue to meet current operating expenses, not to mention retarding the present debt."

Figures obtained from the high school showed the decline in as-

Assessed Valuation by Townships

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Frankie Costello May Go Back To Italy; Adlai Cool To-ward Truman As Democratic Keynote Speaker; Kefauver's Female Henchmen Are Politically Unfaithful.

tion of the Volstead Act and the 18th Amendment in the history of prohibition."

Following publication, I personally talked to various members of the Justice Department urging action against Costello, but it was not until Senator Kefauver had focused the spotlight on him that Attorney General James McGranahan finally moved.

Brownell is now moving with considerable vigor, and Alfred O'Hara, one of his bright young men, assistant U. S. attorney in New York, will go to trial against Costello some time in April on three counts, two of which were outlined in this column.

They are: 1, failing to give his record of arrests; 2, listing of an erroneous occupation when filing for citizenship; 3, failure to be loyal to the laws and constitution of the United States.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Estes Kefauver's female supporters are deserting him. Fay Porter, of California, once a strong Kefauver gal, now tells him: "I love you, Estes, but I am for Adlai." Liz Snyder of California says the same. Secretary of Defense Wilson was talking about the trouble he had bringing some new India cattle into this country. "They've got foot-in-mouth disease," he said. This was too much for Kay Hale, the Cleveland commentator. Noticing her giggles, Wilson good-naturedly observed: "I know why you down the table there are laughing."

Capital politicos claim there was something Freudian about Vice President Nixon's selection of his favorite poem — Walt Whitman's "Captain, My Captain." It was written following the assassination of Abraham Lincoln. Dick Nixon may have been trying to get back at his old critic, Chief Justice Earl Warren, when he paid tribute to the anti-segregation decision of a great Republican chief justice.

The remark certainly was not calculated to help Warren below the Mason-Dixon Line. However, it has boomeranged and hurt Dick on both sides of the line. Negroes incidentally, recall that Nixon lives in one of the restricted parts of Washington and signed a restricted covenant agreeing not to sell his house to Negroes, Semites, Armenians, Persians, or Syrians. When Senator Eastman of Mississippi is asked whether he will withdraw his two daughters and son from the Sidwell Friends school as a result of their admitting Negro children, his only reply is: "No comment."

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

The White House requested photographers covering the recent Heart Fund luncheon at the Mayflower not to take pictures of Mrs. Eisenhower with famed comedian Victor Borge, because it might give him publicity. As long as the comedian was within range of Mamie, the orders were "no shots." Photographers obeyed the orders. The incident was important only because it shows how one part of the press definitely kowtows to the White House. Borge needs publicity like a hole in the head. He played to standing room only in Washington. Mrs. Eisenhower is opening the annual drive to aid victims of nephrosis. This is a crippling kidney disease that ravages children and costs their parents as much as $10,000 in medical and doctors' bills. The SEC is taking a good look at some interesting operations by the Morse-Fairbanks Co., in which 169,840 shares of stock previously set aside for employees is being exchanged with shares of Canadian locomotive. Sounds like a lopsided exchange. Canadian locomotive stock has a book value of $12.80, while Morse-Fairbanks value is $46. But Robert Morse Jr., is head of both Morse-Fairbanks and Canadian locomotive, owns a lot of the latter stock. Said Vermont's Senator Flanigan when asked whether he thought Ike would run again: "I'm not a prophet. I would be more surprised if he doesn't than if he does — sounds like another Vermonter-Calvin Coolidge."

ADLAI AND HARRY

It looks like the breach between Adlai Stevenson and Harry Truman is widening. Stevenson forces appear to be frowning on Harry Truman as keynote speaker at the Chicago convention.

On February 7, Jiggs Donohue, campaign manager for Senator Kefauver, wrote a letter to Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler, urging Truman as the keynote speaker. Donohue pointed out that Truman was for no one candidate, was a strong advocate of party harmony, and would be the ideal speaker.

Two weeks passed. No reply. Came Feb. 20. Donohue wrote Butler a second letter asking for a reply. This time he enclosed a carbon copy to Truman.

Finally, on Feb. 23, Butler replied: "We have not gotten to the point in our plans and preparations for the convention where we are ready to select the keynote speaker. However, I can assure you that your suggestion will be carefully considered by the committee called upon to make recommendations to the full national committee."

Naturally, a copy of this brush-off was immediately sent to Harry Truman. Since Butler was hand-picked by Adlai Stevenson, and since Governor Harriman, the other leading Democratic candidate, also had proposed Truman as keynote speaker, Harry isn't likely to be happy about Adlai.

Auto Smashes Into
Crowd of Children;
Seven Injured

CHICAGO — A high school teacher told police today that she blacked out just before her car went out of control and smashed into a crowd of screaming school children.

Seven children were injured, four seriously, when Mrs. Ruth Fitzhugh's car jumped a curb, hit the youngsters, and smashed into a delicatessen plate glass window Tuesday.

The children were going home from school when Mrs. Fitzhugh's car hit them. Some were knocked aside. Others were carried on the front of the car and dropped off moments before it hit the window.
Mrs. Fitzhugh, 51, said she had been feeling ill all through the school day.
She stepped into her car to move it closer to the curb,
she said, and "I don't remember what happened until my car hit the delicatessen."

"The terrible screams were the first I knew of the accident."

She was charged with reckless driving and released on $125 bond.

Protest Proposed
Sale of Hospital
Grounds by VA

WASHINGTON (D)—Rep. Charles W. Vursell (R-Ill.) said today that he, Rep. Kenneth J. Gray (D-Ill.) and a group of American Legion officials met with Veterans Administrator H. V. Higley Tuesday to protest the proposed sale of 123 acres at the Veterans hospital, Marion, Ill.

Vursell said the group told Higley that veterans' groups, assisted by people in the area, had donated to the government more than $120,000 in planting trees, building roads and landscaping on the land.

Vursell said the money the government would receive from the sale of the land would be "only a pittance of the cost of the improvements that had been made by the veterans' organizations."

Vursell was accompanied by former Gov. John Stelle, William McCauley of Olney, Ill., and Ray Hubbs of Herrin, Ill.

Other large parks are Tongass National Forest and Katmai National Monument, site of the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes, one of the world's largest groups of active volcanoes.

Maywood Proviso fell victim to one of the biggest upsets as another 120 teams Tuesday night were dropped from the race for the 1955 high school basketball final.

Proviso, a suburban leader until it faltered at the end of the season, lost in its first-round regional game to Elmhurst York 82-88.

York had won only 5 of 17 games during the regular season while Proviso had a 14-5 record. The game was at Elmhurst.

Two first-round regional games were played at each of the 60 sites. The regionals continue to night.

Two of the "Little Davids" with the best season records survived opening regional play. At Pekin, Minier made its record 27-2 by conquering Morton 72-55. At Aledo, Little York had a 25-1 mark after ousting Reynolds 78-46.

St. Paul Wins Rubber

Another district winner, Odell St. Paul, won its rubber game against Brawdwood 69-64. The two clubs had split two games during the season.

But another small school gained at least a tie for the state's most "imperfect" record. Cowden lost to Brownstown 63-34 at Vandalia. It was Cowden's 24th loss without a victory.

Among the top-rated teams posting victories were:

Pinckneyville, ranked second in the state, doubled the score on Red Bud 78-39 at Du Quoin. The Panthers next meet Steelville, which topped Trico 74-66.

Edwardsville, rated fifth and Aledo, ranked 11th, both won at Alton, setting the stage for a bang-up semifinal game. The Tigers edged Madison 44-33 and Alton eliminated Bethalto 56-41.

Third - rated Herrin humbled Crab Orchard 82-19 at Marion, where Carbondale Attacks, a district winner, also advanced by downing Marion 70-62.

Bloom Breezes to Victory

Chicago Heights Bloom, South Suburban League champs and 13th in the state, waltzed by Kankakee St. Patrick 77-43 at Bradley. Elgin St. Anthony, rated 15th in the state, was too much for Cisne by 92-43. The other winner at Flora was Effingham, 82-65 over Teutopolis.

Salem, which has a fine 22-4 record, blasted Sandoval 96-44 at Salem. Peru St. Bede, 19-4, rolled by Walnus 74-49 at St. Bede. Decatur was a 70-38 victor against Illinoian at Decatur.

Some other interesting semifinals set up by Tuesday night results will be at Moline, where Rock Island advanced against Port Byron 65-46, and will meet Rock Island Alman, 79-52 over Orion; at Fairfield, where Albion downed Wayne City 76-65 and must tackle the only team to beat it in season's play, Carmi, a 75-56 conqueror of Fairfield; and at Riverside, where Hinsdale, 49-47 over Downers Grove will play Cicero Morton 72-39 from Argo.

Little Maroa Bloomington 77-59 at Clinton, where Farmer City won its 20th of 25 games by knocking over Bloomington Trinity 88-61. It was a sad ending to losing seasons for both Bloomington clubs.

Maywood Proviso Upset in Tourney Play; Herrin, Attucks Win at Marion

By United Press

Maywood Proviso fell victim to one of the biggest upsets as another 120 teams Tuesday night were dropped from the race for the 1955 high school basketball final.

Proviso, a suburban leader until it faltered at the end of the season, lost in its first-round regional game to Elmhurst York 82-88.

York had won only 5 of 17 games during the regular season while Proviso had a 14-5 record. The game was at Elmhurst.

Two first-round regional games were played at each of the 60 sites. The regionals continue to night.

Two of the "Little Davids" with the best season records survived opening regional play. At Pekin, Minier made its record 27-2 by conquering Morton 72-55. At Aledo, Little York had a 25-1 mark after ousting Reynolds 78-46.

St. Paul Wins Rubber

Another district winner, Odell St. Paul, won its rubber game against Brawdwood 69-64. The two clubs had split two games during the season.

But another small school gained at least a tie for the state's most "imperfect" record. Cowden lost to Brownstown 63-34 at Vandalia. It was Cowden's 24th loss without a victory.

Among the top-rated teams posting victories were:

Pinckneyville, ranked second in the state, doubled the score on Red Bud 78-39 at Du Quoin. The Panthers next meet Steelville, which topped Trico 74-66.

Edwardsville, rated fifth and Aledo, ranked 11th, both won at Alton, setting the stage for a bang-up semifinal game. The Tigers edged Madison 44-33 and Alton eliminated Bethalto 56-41.

Third - rated Herrin humbled Crab Orchard 82-19 at Marion, where Carbondale Attacks, a district winner, also advanced by downing Marion 70-62.

Bloom Breezes to Victory

Chicago Heights Bloom, South Suburban League champs and 13th in the state, waltzed by Kankakee St. Patrick 77-43 at Bradley. Elgin St. Anthony, rated 15th in the state, was too much for Cisne by 92-43. The other winner at Flora was Effingham, 82-65 over Teutopolis.

Salem, which has a fine 22-4 record, blasted Sandoval 96-44 at Salem. Peru St. Bede, 19-4, rolled by Walnus 74-49 at St. Bede. Decatur was a 70-38 victor against Illinoian at Decatur.

Some other interesting semifinals set up by Tuesday night results will be at Moline, where Rock Island advanced against Port Byron 65-46, and will meet Rock Island Alman, 79-52 over Orion; at Fairfield, where Albion downed Wayne City 76-65 and must tackle the only team to beat it in season's play, Carmi, a 75-56 conqueror of Fairfield; and at Riverside, where Hinsdale, 49-47 over Downers Grove will play Cicero Morton 72-39 from Argo.

Little Maroa Bloomington 77-59 at Clinton, where Farmer City won its 20th of 25 games by knocking over Bloomington Trinity 88-61. It was a sad ending to losing seasons for both Bloomington clubs.

Reaction of Party Leaders To Ike Decision

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Reaction of major political leaders to the President's announcement:

Vice President Richard M. Nixon: "The Republican national convention will renominate Mr. Eisenhower by acclamation and 'he will be overwhelmingly re-elected in November.' Mr. Eisenhower 'has prayerfully weighed a step that represents so much to the cause of peace and freedom to all men . . . only a man completely consecrated to the service of his country" could have made the decision he did.

Leonard W. Hall, GOP national chairman: "The President's decision is the best possible news for all Americans. . . . It means a continuation of the peace, prosperity, and progress of the Eisenhower Republican administration." For the Republican Party this is the ringing call for an all-out campaign. We are going to work for a Republican victory all down the line from the White House to the county courthouse."

Paul M. Butler, Democratic national chairman: "The American people will never elect a president who, at 65, has had a serious heart attack and who is unable to be a full time chief executive. . . . Republican leaders have high pressurized Mr. Eisenhower into this decision without regard to the possible consequences to him, his family or the public. . . . The uncertainties of his future health are bound to dominate the campaign and tend to obliterate the discussion and consideration of the great issues. . . . Our country needs a full-time president. . . ."

Coello Man Killed In Auto-Truck Crash

CHRISTOPHER, Ill. (UPI) — A collision between a car and a pickup truck late Tuesday near here resulted in fatal injuries to a Coello man:

A. J. Martin Sr., 70, died in a hospital shortly after the accident at the intersection of Ill. 14 and the Coello Road. The truck driver, Henry Heyder, 52, West Frankfort, received minor injuries.

State Patrolman E. W. Simmons said Martin apparently failed to stop at the highway and drove into the path of the truck.

Widow of Murder Victim Files $60,000 Suit

MARION, Ill. (UPI) — The widow of a murder victim has filed a $60,000 damage suit under the Dram Shop Act against a veterans' organization and a Colp tavern owner.

Mrs. Emma Norman, Marion, is suing the Marion American Legion Home Assn. and Mary Calcaterra, Colp. She is the widow of Lorin Norman, who was murdered at an American Legion picnic at Crab Orchard Lake in 1954.

A Marion electrician, Fred Odum was convicted of the murder and is serving a 20-year-prison term.

Mrs. Norman filed the suit late Tuesday seeking $15,000 damages for herself and each of her three children. The suit alleges that Odum drank intoxicating beverages obtained from the Marion Legion Post and the Calcaterra tavern before he killed Norman in a scuffle at the picnic.

Approve Cut in Nightclubbing Tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A proposed reduction in the tax on nightclubbing has been tentatively approved by a House Ways and Means subcommittee, it was learned yesterday.

Informants said the subcommittee by a split vote Tuesday approved cutting the 20 per cent cabaret tax to 10 per cent. The tax is levied on food and drink consumed at places where entertainment or dancing is provided.

The secret action was taken as the subcommittee worked on legislation calling for numerous revisions in excise tax law. Announcement of all tentative decisions was withheld pending final subcommittee action on the legislation.

Republican Senators on Spot with Farm Bill After Ike Veto of Gas Measure

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Break out the emergency ointment for those Republican senators who burned their fingers on the natural gas bill. Shed a tear for their Republican colleagues whose luck held on the gas bill because they voted against it.

The burned and unburned now must handle the fiery farm subsidy legislation in genuine fear that President Eisenhower might this time cross them by failing to veto. There could be third degree body burns in that.

Mr. Eisenhower on a second-look decision vetoed the bill which would have exempted independent natural gas producers from direct federal regulation. The bill passed the Senate with 31 Republicans and 22 Democratic votes. Opposed were 14 Republicans and 24 Democrats.

Republicans who voted for the gas bill had considerable reason to expect Mr. Eisenhower to sign it. His surprise veto endorsed the bill's principles but condemned the lobbying tactics of a small percentage of its industrial supporters.

Farm-More Serious

Republican supporters of the bill were somewhat embarrassed and perhaps may suffer a bit of campaign humiliation under these circumstances. The farm subsidy business, however, is more serious, by a margin of the difference between croquet and Russian roulette.

Pending in the Senate now are two farm propositions. The administration bill would continue flexible price supports on basic farm crops and establish a soil bank system by which farmers would be paid for taking acres out of production—priceless.

The other proposal, sponsored by the Senate Agriculture Committee, would return to high and rigid price supports at 90 per cent of what is determined as a fair price.

It will have special treatment sections for rice and corn. The soil bank idea also is a part of the committee bill.

The chips will go down on several issues. The big one will be the vote to substitute the administration version of farm subsidy for the committee version. Any farm belt Republican who votes for that substitution may expect Democrats to attack him back home as an enemy of the American farmer, a tool of big business.

Rigid Subsidy Bill

If the administration version is defeated, the Senate will adopt the rigid 90 per cent farm subsidy program and the House concurring, the bill will go to the White House. If Mr. Eisenhower vetoes high, rigid support prices, the congressmen who voted for the administration bill will, at least, have the formal backing of the administration in their stand.

But some supporters of high, rigid support prices confidently expect the President to accept that program, reluctantly, if it is forced on him. Some Republican senators who are of a mind to support the flexible administration plan are fearful it could come out just that way.

That would put them in a bad spot, especially if they represented agricultural areas and were up for reomination and election this year. They can't quite believe that the President would accept the high, rigid support principle. But they are not sure, either. A hint from the White House would be welcome—priceless.

Predicts Unusually Windy March

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — A professor of geophysics who has made a reputation for long-range weather forecasting — predicts an unusually windy March in the Midwest with several more destructive tornadoes.

Dr. Edward M. Brooks, St. Louis University geophysicist, who bases his predictions on a study of sunspot activity, said the early appearance of this year's first tornado and the fact that a period of maximum sunspot activity is approaching indicates there will be more tornadoes next month.

Suit Fails and He May Be Out of Job

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (UPI) — Ben Pitcher, who lost a court suit to compel Cheboygan county's board of supervisors to hire his $100-a-year salary as county drain commissioner, may lose his job as well.

The board has adopted a resolution to ask the legislature for a law which would abolish the job of drain commissioner in counties with populations of less than 20,000.

Supervisors said even $100 a year is too much to pay since drain commissioners aren't needed in sparsely populated counties such as Cheboygan county.

C. L. McCormick Is Candidate for Representative

C. L. McCormick

C. L. McCormick, 36 year old Republican, County Clerk of Johnson county, is a candidate for Representative, 59th Legislative district.

Born in McCormick, Union Precinct, Pope county, December 1, 1919, he moved to Johnson county with his parents, Dewey McCormick and Jewel Lay McCormick at an early age and attended public schools in Johnson county graduating from Vienna high school in 1939. He worked in the dry goods business with his mother until he entered the Army in 1942.

During his high school days — even before he was voting age — McCormick organized the Johnson County Young Republican organization and was president of that group until March 1942 when he was called into service — serving his country 46 months both in the States and overseas.

Upon his return from the Army he entered a partnership with his brother in the taxi and restaurant business in Vienna. In 1950 he was elected County Clerk of Johnson county and re-elected in 1954. During this same time he was elected and re-elected precinct committeeman serving as secretary of the county committee.

Mccormick is a member of the First Baptist church of Vienna, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, and active in all civic affairs. He and his brother are farmers.

In making his announcement, Mr. McCormick stated that he "will not be a Do Nothing Representative if elected," and as the campaign progresses, he will discuss his "forward, progressive program" thoroughly with the voters of this district.

FCDA Recommends Emergency Kits

WASHINGTON — The Federal Civil Defense Administration urges all Americans to have on hand a seven-day emergency home food supply and a three-day personal evacuation-survival kit.

The seven-day home food supply was urged "because attack may cut off regular sources of food. Persons who could not be evacuated immediately might have to depend on home resources."

This supply, the FCDA suggested, should include water, canned and dehydrated foods, sugar, salt, seasonings, hard candy and chewing gum—all in sealed packages, jars or cans.

The personal evacuation survival kit—light of weight and small—should contain food, water, first-aid items, and any special medicines needed by chronically ill persons. The FCDA also listed a jack knife, flashlight, matches, disposable eating utensils, cooking utensils and a small, non-electric stove as priority items for the survival kit.

The civil defense organization recommended that a shovel, crowbar and portable, battery-operated radio with extra batteries, the last a "must" for proper survival preparedness, be kept handy whether evacuation is undertaken or not.

MICHIGAN CITY, Mich. (UPI)—How much is a million dollars? A billion dollars?

Dr. Lauren G. Woodby, a Central Michigan College mathematics professor, believes most people have no idea of just what these figures mean. So he prepared an article on the subject in an effort to clarify the terms.

"Most of us will not have the experience of counting a million dollars, but if we were to do it, using new $10 bills, the stack of bills would be about 40 feet high," he wrote.

"And a billion dollars in $10 bills would be one thousand times 40 feet or 40,000 feet high—nearly eight miles."

There are more than 40,000 persons living in the suburbs in the United States, and their family income averages $7,000 a year, or twice the national average. Seventy-five per cent own their own homes.

Just a Corpse at Twilight

By Robert Martin

THE STORY: Many people have voiced objection to the proposed autopsy on Frank Osborn, who died six months before, which James Bennett, investigator for the industrial commission, is trying to arrange. Someone took a shot at Bennett just before he discovered the dead body of Osborn's widow. And after a scene with Sheriff Abner Cornwallis, who is trying to prevent the examination, another shot was fired which creases Bennett's neck.

VIII

I parked in the drive at the Osborn place and thought sadly that already, in a day's time, the place looked deserted and desolate. There was an official-looking seal pasted over the lock of the front door which warned: "Keep Out Under Penalty of Law. Closed by Order of the Sheriff." I walked around the side yard to the rear, and noted a similar seal on the back door. I saw a third seal on the padlocked barn door and then walked away from the house and up the hill into the woods. I came to the spot where we'd found the target tacked to the beech tree. Once more I stood facing the tree and sighted an imaginary rifle. I couldn't see the house; it was down hill and beyond the thick growth of trees. Walking in a straight line I left the tree and went down the hill. In a moment the back of the green barn appeared, but all I could see of the house was a corner of the back porch and no windows. I walked straight to the barn, paused long enough to see a number of small splintered holes in the dry peeling paint, and then moved through the high grass to the corner of the barn and peered around it. The house was about 30 yards away. I had a clear view of the back porch and the kitchen window above the sink.

I lit a cigarette and leaned against the barn. Crickets chirped around me and the birds were shrill in the trees. As noon came on, the chill was leaving the air and the breeze was soft on my face. I turned and gazed back up the hill through the trees and I told myself that bullets fired in the target area, even bullets fired in the general direction of the target, would never hit the house, not even if a .22 could carry that far. They would hit the barn, because it was between the woods and the house, and they would be almost expended, already nearing the end of their trajectory. But a .22 fired from where I stood at a person on the back porch, as I had been, or at Alice Osborn peeling potatoes before the kitchen sink—that bullet could be deadly.

I knelt down and raked my fingers through the grass. I found them almost immediately, two bright little brass cartridge cases. I rolled them around in my fingers, seeing the crimp the firing pin had made. They were .22's, all right, and at 30 yards and with careful aim they were as deadly as a .45, if not as messy. I dropped them into my jacket pocket.

Then I went up the back porch steps and peered at the hole in the wood beside the door, the hole made by the bullet which had so narrowly missed my head. There was no point in digging it out. I thought; it would be a .22, and from the same gun which had killed Alice Osborn. As I turned and went down the steps, I heard tires crunch on the stones of the drive. I knew it was Sheriff Abner Cornwallis before he came around the corner of the house. "Good morning, Sheriff," I said.

He still wore the wrinkled seersucker suit but today, because it was Sunday, I guessed, he had put on a clean white shirt and black string tie. If he'd had a white goatee he would have resembled an advertisement for Kentucky whisky. "What're you doing out here?" His voice was unfriendly.

"Just looking around, Sheriff. If you want to arrest me, I'll go quietly."

"No use now," he said sourly. "You ain't got that paper with you any more."

"That's right," I said cheerfully.

"It won't do you any good. Nobody's going to dig up Frank Osborn without permission from the coroner or next of kin. It's my duty to uphold the law."

I took the small cartridge cases from my pocket and held them out for him to see. "I found these in the grass over there by the corner of the barn," I pointed.

He squinted at the barn, his eyes measuring the distance from it to the back porch, and then he leaned over and peered at the cases. "Twenty-two's," he said. "Probably more up there in the woods where the target was, only we couldn't find 'em."

I said, "The bullets fired from the target area hit the barn. They couldn't have struck the house, or gone in the kitchen window—the barn was in the way." I rolled the little brass objects around in my fingers. "These were fired from the corner of the barn, where there's a clear view of the house—at 30 yards."

He didn't speak for a moment, and then he sighed. "How do you figure? That it wasn't an accident? That somebody rigged that target to make it look like kids shooting, and then sneaked down here and picked off Alice through the window?"

I nodded. "And took a shot at me for good measure."

He peered at me in the sun, pulling his black brows together. "You ain't just a state-paid boorocrat. I know that now, and I've seen a passel of 'em." He looked up at the woods. "I got to wondering about it, too."
